

PHANTIC RAGE KILLS TO SAVE LIFE OF CHILD

Six-Year-Old Girl, Shot By Younger Brother, Succumbs on Way to Hospital.

CHILDREN AT PLAY WHEN GUN BURSTS

Campbell County Home Scene of Tragedy. Father Races Car Against Death in Vain.

A frantic family Sunday lost a mad race with death when 6-year-old Louise Elliott died en route to Grady hospital, the victim of a shotgun in the hands of her 4-year-old brother, Tommy, playing soldier on Armistice day.

A Campbell county coroner's jury, meeting at Harry G. Poole's undertaking establishment, late Sunday night returned a verdict of accidental killing in the child's death.

Louise, who was a first grade pupil at the Owl Rock school was sitting beside a fireplace in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Elliott, a mile below the school on the Chattahoochee river in Campbell county shortly after 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Rumping about the same room was Tommy, totting an old shotgun, rusted and unfired since before he was born.

Mrs. Elliott was in the kitchen, washing the dinner dishes. The father and a friend, I. N. Wallace, were in another part of the house, reading.

Suddenly a bursting noise, emanating from the room occupied by the children, rent the air. Mrs. Elliott dashed in and found Louise lying on the floor, bewildered standing beside her, the smoking shotgun on the floor.

"Mother, I must be sleeping," cried Louise, who evidently didn't know she was shot.

But the mother knew that unless she acted quickly her little girl would be sleeping the sleep eternal, so she and the father and Wallace rushed up the family car for the rush to Atlanta, she hurried the little girl up in a blanket and little Tommy, too, still bewildered by the result of the gun's discharge.

Elliott took the wheel and started the race with death. Disregarding all traffic laws he swept up the pike, encouraged as his wife whispered from the back seat that the child still was alive. With each new report he added more speed, hoping against hope that he would be able to reach Grady in time to save his little girl.

But as the party moved into Atlanta suburbs, Mrs. Elliott saw the life rapidly was ebbing away and realized that they would not be able to reach the hospital.

But the father stayed at the wheel and pressed onward, pushing his car to its maximum, though he knew now that he was fighting a losing fight. One hope remained. The family had friends on Lee street, and he decided to stop there and take a chance of getting the services of a neighborhood physician immediately.

He pulled into the curb in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wells, 1249 Lee street, and as the Wells' came out, shouted for them to call a doctor and an ambulance while the mother carried her precious burden into a front bedroom.

Louise died as half a dozen persons searched the telephone directory to locate the nearest physician. Father and mother had run a good race, but had lost.

The body was taken to Harry G. Poole's undertaking parlors and the coroner notified.

Neither the father nor mother could account for the discharge of the gun. It had not been fired in nearly five years, Mr. Elliott said, adding that he did not believe that the trigger was working or capable of exploding a shell. Little Tommy was unable to explain and the father and Wallace, after deliberation concurred in the belief that the boy must have dropped the gun, causing it to explode.

The officials of Campbell county will conduct an investigation today.

Man Is Killed After Quarrel At Poker Game

R. L. Weaver Surrenders To Police in Death of Tom C. Davis, Street Car Motorman.

THROAT SLASHED, DAVIS DIES QUICKLY

Participants in Sunday Night Poker Session Tell of Altercation and Fatal Fight.

His throat slashed late Sunday night in an altercation growing out of a poker game at 152 Edgewood avenue, Tom C. Davis, 40, of 309 Loomis avenue, street car motorman, staggered down half a flight of stairs and fell dead on the sidewalk as six of his fellow players looked on.

According to testimony furnished police by witnesses, Davis' assailant was R. L. Weaver, of a Josephine street address, who surrendered himself to police station early Monday morning.

Six other men, participants in the game, were held at police station for questioning. Weaver freely admitted that he was responsible for Davis' death.

In a sworn statement to detectives, W. E. Nall, at whose house the murder occurred, said Davis was participating in a poker game at his home, at which Weaver, Fred DeLong, B. W. Padgett, C. C. Heard, J. E. Apple and H. F. Everett were present. Nall disclaimed knowledge of the cause of the trouble, but said Davis used anaphth against Weaver, who retaliated with more profanity. They became obstreperous, Nall said, and he told them:

"If you're going to fight, get up and go out of my house."

He said the two men then went outside, and immediately afterward, the sounds of several blows were heard on the veranda. Occupants of the room rushed to the door and looked out in time to see Weaver make a motion toward Davis' throat when both were standing midway of a flight of stairs.

Weaver then ran down the stairs and when Davis turned to look up at them, blood was spurting from a slash in his throat, Nall said. Davis then tottered down the flight of stairs and fell on the sidewalk.

A Grady hospital ambulance, driven by J. S. Gunter, a cousin of the fatally injured man, rushed to the scene, but death had come before arrival of the ambulance. The jugular vein was completely severed and death was almost instantaneous.

Detective Lieutenant W. H. Andrews and City Detectives R. E. Wintley and J. T. Davis brought all witnesses to police station where late Sunday night they were being held for questioning. It was indicated by police that, after examination, the men would be released. Examination of each will be separate for the purpose of comparing evidence of each member of the group, it was said.

Davis leaves his mother, Mrs. F. C. Davis, of Atlanta; three brothers, C. Davis, of Atlanta; A. H. and D. O. Davis, of Lawrenceville, Ga., and a sister, Mrs. Oliver Bramlett, of Lawrenceville.

HOME IS ROBBED FOR SECOND TIME IN SINGLE WEEK

Visiting her home for the second time in less than a week, thieves early Sunday night robbed Mrs. M. Weinberg, of 537 Linwood avenue, of a valuable diamond ring, $215 in cash and a pistol, according to reports made to officers by Mrs. Weinberg.

The burglars entered her home sometime in the early hours of the night when she was away. She was robbed of about $25 last Tuesday when a sneak thief entered her home and escaped with a purse.

Although this is the view of the government counsel, which appears to be concurred in by President Coolidge, some members of the senate are of the opinion that the conspiracy case against Fall should be tried. It is probable that a senate resolution urging such action may be introduced at the beginning of the coming session.

It is understood that the government's reason for dropping the Fall case is that it rests upon the same evidence upon which Harry S. Tinsley was acquitted last spring by a District of Columbia jury. Fall was to have been tried at the same time but was permitted to have a separate trial on the certificate of his physicians that he was unable to stand the long trip east. It is suggested that if a jury would not convict Sinclair, who made no appeals for sympathy, they would not convict Fall who is said to be badly broken in health.

In favor of pressing the trial of Fall is the argument that the government was prevented by the strategy of Sinclair's attorneys from rebutting the evidence that the transaction between Sinclair and Fall was an ordinary business deal. Members of the jury have stated that they were convinced by the testimony of Fall's son-in-law, M. T. Evers, that the $25,000 in bonds which Everhart received from Sinclair was actually a payment for one-third interest in Fall's ranch in Three Rivers, Mexico, and that the government did not put on any witnesses to disprove this.

It is true that the government prosecutors did not combat this evidence because they were prevented from doing so by the technical rules that govern criminal trials. This was the situation. The government had to prove the transfer of the bonds from Sinclair to Fall. There were two ways to do it. One was by tracing the bonds from the Continental Trading company to Fall and permitting the jury to weigh this circumstantial evidence. The other and simpler plan

FARMER SLAYS MOTHER OF 3; JUMPS IN WELL

After Shooting Mate Georgian Pleads With Her to Rescue Him From Pit.

FOLLOWS SUICIDE OF MAN'S FATHER

Protracted Drinking Is Cause of Tragedy, Say Neighbors; Murderer Held at Lavonia.

Lavonia, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—Elmer Guest, 35, a farmer living near here, shot and almost instantly killed his wife, 32, with a double-barreled shotgun Sunday and jumped into a well on his farm near by. He was later taken from the well by Sheriff Britt Brown of Hart county and placed in jail at Hartwell.

According to officers Guest had been drunk for the last two weeks. A young man who passed the Guest farm house early this morning told sheriff's officers that he saw the farmer knock his wife down. Later, he said, he heard the discharge of the gun and returned to see Guest fleeing madly from the house. The passerby peered in and saw Mrs. Guest lying in a pool of blood.

Grief from the husband attracted the passerby to the well. From its depths, he said, the farmer was calling to his wife he had shot to "come get me out." The passerby notified authorities and Sheriff Brown, with a rope, pulled the man from the well and placed him under arrest charged with murder.

Guest was the daughter of S. W. Thomas, prominent farmer and merchant living near here. Guest's father committed suicide last week at Toccoa, officers were informed.

The Guests had three children, age 7, 5 and 3.

Aside from the report that Guest had been on a protracted spell of drunkenness no cause for the slaying could be advanced by neighbors of the couple.

When taken from the well Guest looked blankly at his rescuers and asked for a cigarette. This he smoked in silence, which was unbroken until he was taken back to the house to complete his dressing. He noticed several relatives of his slain wife crying and asked: "What's the matter around here?" but otherwise made no reference to the shooting.

According to neighbors Guest had been mistreating his wife for several months and the shooting was understood to be the culmination of their domestic differences.

CARNES SHORTAGE MET BY BAPTISTS GOAL IS $480,000

Many Churches Exceed Quota on Contributions to Offset Alleged Defalcations by Official.

Southern Baptists dug in their pockets Sunday to make good the loss of the Home Mission board through the alleged defalcations of Clinton S. Carnes, its former treasurer.

From throughout the south last night came reports of a "generous" response to the appeal issued by Dr. Arch C. Cree, and other Baptist leaders that members of the church contribute to the board's depleted treasury Sunday, which was designated as "Baptist Honor Day."

It is understood that the most part had not been counted and the total given would not be known until later in the week, pastors reported that their contributions apparently would meet if not exceed their quotas.

Druid Hills Baptist church in Atlanta reported that it had met its quota.

COOLIDGE ASKS MORE SHIPS TO PROTECT U. S. COASTLINE IN ARMISTICE DAY ADDRESS

Entire Civilized World Honors Its Hero Dead

PARADE FEATURES LOCAL ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVANCE

Alabama Congressman, Hero of World Conflict, Speaker at Sunday Afternoon Exercises.

On a Sabbath stilled in solemn splendor of early winter, Atlanta quietly commemorated a Monday ten years ago when the shrieking din of whistles and the mad shouts of a nation released from the toils of the mighty octopus of war ascended to the heavens in a thunderous symphony of thanksgiving.

A parade, assembling together again those various units which exist locally of the tide that surged overseas eleven years ago, assembled and marched at 2 o'clock. The American Legion, the Disabled American Veterans, units of the National Guard, the 22nd infantry, local school military bands, veterans of the Spanish-American and Civil wars, and others composed the line of march.

One of the most striking units of the parade was the D. A. V. drum corps, composed of disabled veterans. All members of the corps served in the trenches of France and five of them bore distinguished service crosses.

Smiling Heroes. Dressed in natty white uniforms and aluminum trench helmets, the drum corps led a procession of armed but smiling heroes of the conflict, many of whom walked while others rode in automobiles.

Heading the parade was the Atlanta Police band, which has led so many patriotic and civic exhibitions. Personnel of the band included seven veterans of the world war, nine veterans of the Spanish-American war and four men who served in both conflicts. Every member of the band is a member of the military Order of Serpents, highest honor society of the Spanish-American veterans.

Exercises at Keith's Georgia theater, beginning at 3 o'clock, brought together participants in the parade and the public to hear an address by Congressman Lamar Jeffers, of Alabama, late major of the 326th infantry.

Service crosses in recognition of exceptional service during the world war were presented to several of the veterans.

NEEDED TO ASSURE STRENGTH PARITY

President Points Out Naval Building of England; Says Peace Comes to Nation Prepared.

MUTUAL DUTIES TO AID WORLD

Scores Critics of America and Says Europe Complains Without Trying to Carry Own Load.

Washington, November 11.—(AP)—President Coolidge tonight declared that the construction of more cruisers was needed for the adequate protection of the United States and its possessions.

Addressing a meeting at the Washington auditorium gathered under the auspices of the American Legion to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the end of the world war, the president emphasized that the United States in view of its geographical characteristics, treaty engagements and economic importance and in view of its lack of fueling stations and merchant ships capable of mounting six inch guns was entitled "to a larger number of warships than a nation having these advantages."

Comparing British and American naval construction programs the chief executive said that "when their urgent legislation is carried out they would have 68 cruisers. When ours is carried out, we would have 40. It is obvious that, eliminating all competition, world status in policy of defense require us to have more cruisers."

President Coolidge also took the opportunity for scoring strongly European criticisms of United States isolation and of alleged neglect of American duties towards the old world.

"Europe itself has expressed very definite interest on this subject," Mr. Coolidge said. "We do have such duties. They are not all on one side, however. They are mutual."

Lecturing Europe. "We have sometimes been reproached for lecturing Europe, but probably ours are not the only people who sometimes engage in gratuitous criticism and advice. We have also been charged with pursuing a policy of isolation. We are not the only people, either, who desire to give their attention to their own affairs. It is quite evident that both of these claims cannot be true. I think no informed person at home or abroad would blame us for not intervening in affairs which are peculiarly the concern of others to adjust, or when we are asked for help for stating clearly the terms on which we are willing to respond. . . .

"It is always plain that Europe and the United States are lacking in

SEEK VOLUNTEER TO FURNISH BLOOD IN BATTLE FOR LIFE

On the day when many of his former "buddies" in the great world war were parading in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of the end of the bloody conflict, Quillian D. Bone, ex-service man, was in Grady hospital with strength slowly ebbing as a result of gas-weakened tissues of his lungs, with an immediate blood transfusion necessary to save his life.

Appeal for volunteers for the transfusion was sounded Sunday after doctors had told them a second transfusion would be necessary. Tests to find blood that matches will be conducted today at Grady hospital beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

A transfusion last Sunday with blood given by O. T. Smith, member of The Constitution's composing room staff, rallied the veteran's strength remarkably, but doctors say another transfusion will be necessary before the veteran can be safely on the road to recovery. Tests have revealed that Mr. Smith's blood does not now match that of the disabled service man, who served in the 16th machine gunners of the 42d division for 18 months overseas.

Income Tax Figures Reveal Increase in Millionaires

223 PERSONS PAY NINTH OF TOTAL TAX

Washington, November 11.—(United News.)—America's "more than a million a year income" class rose to a new record-breaking figure in 1927, greatly exceeding even the war years of 1916-1917, according to treasury department income tax statistics announced tonight.

Two hundred and eighty-three persons paid tax on yearly incomes above $1,000,000 for 1927, an increase of 52 over 1926, and 262 greater than in 1921, the lowest year for million-dollar incomes since 1914.

This class paid more than $96,000,000 in income taxes in 1927, indicating they received 2.6 per cent of the total incomes reported and paid 11.69 per cent of the total individual income taxes.

The total revenue reported by the treasury department on individual income taxes was $826,245,497.

Joseph McCoy, treasury actuary, estimated on the basis of 1926 figures that there were 11,000 persons worth a million dollars or more in the United States, the 1927 figures indicating this number had increased to possibly 15,000.

Ten incomes over $5,000,000.

The ultra-wealthy class—those who pay taxes on incomes of more than $5,000,000 a year—showed a noticeable decrease in 1927. Only ten were reported, a drop of four from 1926. The fluctuation in the number of those paying taxes on incomes of more than $1,000,000 annually is markedly noticeable in the treasury's report.

In 1914, there were 60 in this class; 1915, 120; 1916, 206; 1917, 141; 1918, 67; 1919, 65; 1920, 83; 1921, 41; 1922, 67; 1923, 74; 1924, 75; 1925, 207; 1926, 231.

The treasury's detailed analysis of income taxes showed that 4,122,242 persons made tax returns. Of this number 3,324,877 were made by persons receiving incomes of $5,000 or less.

Those reporting incomes under $5,000 received 38.58 per cent of the total income reported. Exemptions for dependents or other reasons, however, permitted them to pay only 1.38 per cent of the total tax figure.

Middle Income Large.

Another wealthy class—those receiving from $50,000 to $100,000 a year income—paid 18.88 per cent of the total return, which was more than was paid by any other class.

The report showed many startling figures on the trend of the nation's wealth, but foremost among them was the ownership of $5,539,575,191 in tax-exempt securities by taxpayers, on which they received $204,205,889 of untaxable income.

There were 173 corporations listed with net incomes of $5,000,000 or more, out of a total of 249,847 reporting net taxable incomes. There were almost as many—204,000—reporting no taxable income for the year.

The aggregate gross income of these "non-profit" corporations was shown to be in excess of $24,000,000,000. They had deficits totalling $2,311,423,935. This deficit figure, incidentally, is larger than in any recent year, with the exception of 1921, when it reached a figure of about $1,000,000,000.

Manufacturing corporations showed the largest deficits, totalling $743,000,000.

There was a total of $40,631,224 taxes paid on all estates after deductions allowed for state inheritance taxes. Gross value of all estates reported was $3,146,289,563.

Of 9,358 estate tax returns made during the calendar year 1926, 307 were reported as of more than $1,000,000 each. Seven of these millionaire estates were $10,000,000 or more each.

POINCARÉ FORMS ANOTHER CABINET

Paris, November 11.—(P)—Premier Raymond Poincaré, back at the helm of government with an "Armistice day" cabinet, indicated tonight that he planned to take an even bigger part in post-war finance than the direction which he earned him the appellation of "savior of the franc."

He informed President Doumergue tonight that he had formed a cabinet which could conduct the government and as he left the palace he said that he had relinquished the finance portfolio so that he could devote all his time to solution of financial questions and the coming reparation negotiations.

He admitted that he was likely to leave Paris soon, which was taken by newspapermen to mean that he intends to represent France on the committee of experts which is soon to take up final revision of the Dawes plan for reparation payments.

In forming his cabinet, Poincaré did what he said he would not do, take the responsibility without the cooperation of the radical party and other elements which had shared in his "national union" cabinet for two years. The radical party continued to refuse to permit its members to take part, and the premier solved the six-day crisis without them.

The composition of the new cabinet was officially announced tonight as follows:

Premier (without portfolio), Raymond Poincaré; finance, Henri Cherbon; interior, André Tardieu; foreign, Aristide Briand; war, Paul Painlevé; marine, Georges Legues; colonies, André Maginot; pensions, Louis Antier; commerce, Georges Bonedon; public works, Pierre Fargot; labor, Louis Loucheur; public instruction, Pierre Marraud; agriculture, Jean Hennessey; air, Laurent Eynac.

Under secretaries will be: Labor, Alfred Oberkirch; physical education, Henri Pate; technical education, Francois Poncet.

ASSAULTS AROUSE ILLINOIS CITIZENS

Lake Forest, Ill., November 11.—(United News.)—Lake county authorities and the fashionable North Shore district, approximately 40 miles north of Chicago, were aroused today over attacks on three young women Saturday night.

The attacks, coming so closely behind the Lake Bluff "furnace mystery" in which Miss Edna Knaak, school teacher, was burned to death in the furnace at the police station, struck terror in the homes of the wealthy and brought a demand that authorities take immediate action.

Miss Edna Mary Kelley, school teacher and daughter of a wealthy Lake Forest contractor, was in a serious condition today at the Alice Home hospital here suffering from a blow on the skull delivered by an unknown assailant. This is the same hospital in which Miss Knaak died.

Surgeons who performed an operation on Miss Kelley's skull today said she had a good chance for recovery. Miss Kelley, rendered unconscious by the blow, was found by another woman lying on the spacious lawn of the home of William J. Quigley.

Refuses to Make Complaint.

Miss Genevieve Cook, 17, daughter of a wealthy lumberman of Highland Park, near here, returning to her home from a football dance, was able to fight herself free from a man, and escape to a home in the neighborhood. Rosebud Axt, third victim, also fought off an assailant and escaped. She gave authorities the name of a suspect but refused to sign a complaint.

Miss Kelley regained consciousness at the hospital today following removal of a piece of her skull, but could give police no description of her assailant.

"I was struck on the head from behind," she said. "I lost consciousness and do not remember anything until I awoke in the hospital. I didn't see anyone along the road and don't know what hit me."

Mrs. Frieda Richmond, who found the girl on the lawn, said Miss Kelley was "apparently unconscious" of nursery rhymes and repeating the alphabet as though talking to her pupils. She teaches a kindergarten class.

FAMILY REFUSES KNAAK JURY VERDICT.

Lake Bluff, Ill., November 11.—(United News.)—Refusing to accept as final the verdict of a coroner's jury that Elfrida Knaak "apparently died of self-inflicted burns," relatives of the girl and authorities said today the investigation would be continued until the "furnace mystery" is cleared.

The inquest was held at Waukegan Saturday and the jury accepted the story of the girl told to doctors and nurses at the Lake Forest hospital that she forced herself into the furnace to "purify a spiritual love," for Charles W. Hitchcock, handsome night policeman, former actor, and instructor in dramatic art and sales psychology.

The girl's four brothers, who attended the inquest, were displeased with the findings of the jury, and announced they would hire private investigators, if necessary, to solve the mystery.

To Continue Search.

"We are not convinced that Elfrida could have burned herself in that small furnace," Alvin Knaak, brother of the girl, told the United News. "She always was a girl of rational mind, and studious. Something happened that night when she went to the Lake Bluff police station. What it was, whether she was hypnotized or drugged, I don't know. We intend to find out."

State's Attorney A. V. Smith, who aided Coroner John E. Taylor in examining witnesses at the inquest, expressed a similar opinion, and said his investigation would continue.

Members of the coroner's jury, in returning their verdict, had called the state's attorney into an anteroom where they were deliberating and asked if their verdict would close the investigation. Smith told them it would not.

"On the evidence presented, we could return no other verdict," members of the jury said. "We do not say this is suicide, but, from the evidence, the burns apparently were self-inflicted."

Dr. Arthur J. Rissinger, who attended Miss Knaak at the Alice Home hospital in Lake Bluff, told the jury the story which the girl had mumbled to him before she died.

"I did it myself," he quoted the girl as saying. "I did it to purify my love in the eyes of God. I communicated that mind, spiritually with Hitch!"

Hitchcock Unperturbed.

Mary Keane, special nurse at the hospital, said the girl on two occasions the day before she died had said: "I didn't do it; I didn't do it; I wonder—I wonder—why they did it."

Hitchcock, on the stand, denied any knowledge of the girl's affection for him or of a spiritual love. He said he had known the girl four years, taught her elocution and sales psychology, and, though he affectionately called her "Fritzy," his meetings with her were of a business nature.

"I did not know she loved me," he testified. "I know nothing of spiritualism, hypnotism or mysticism. We never discussed these subjects at any time. My teaching of psychology is confined to its application to salesmanship, which is nothing more than using common sense."

HAYWOOD'S ASHES BURIED IN CHICAGO

Chicago, November 11.—(P)—Beside the graves of victims of the famous eight-hour day fight and the Haymarket riot of 1886, half the ashes of William D. ("Big Bill") Haywood, former I. W. W. leader, were buried here today.

The other half of Haywood's ashes are buried in Moscow, under the Kremlin wall in Red Square. He died in Moscow May 18 of this year.

This arrangement was in accordance with his wishes, his widow, a Russian office worker, said. The ashes were brought to this country by Karl Roewe, an American student in the proletarian university in Moscow. En route to Chicago from New York, they were exhibited in Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Detroit. An escort of communists accompanied them.

Haywood first came into prominence as a leader of the Western Federation of Miners. Freed from complicity in the assassination of Governor Frank Steiwerberg of Idaho, in 1906, he organized the I. W. W. and became its secretary-treasurer. He fled to Russia in 1921 following his sentence to serve 24 years in prison on conviction of criminal syndicalism.

Will that happen
to your motor while you sleep tonight?

IT may come any time—cold that swoops down in the night to ruin expensive motors.

Every year the story is the same. Owners put off getting Denatured Alcohol until it's too late—because they don't want to bother, or feel optimistic, or forget. Cars unprotected—left overnight in unheated garages, allowed to stand outside theatres, parked for an hour or so somewhere, until the mercury drops—and drops.

Next day repair shops buzz with activity, soldering broken radiators, welding split cylinder blocks. And hundreds of owners dig down into aching pocket-books to pay bills that range as high as $400. An unexpected cost—the kind that hurts. The price of a foolish, thoughtless gamble.

Will you be faced by such a repair bill?

It's so simple to avoid it. Stop at your dealer's today and get him to put Denatured Alcohol in your radiator. Don't wait—tonight may be the night.

Use Denatured Alcohol early enough, use it often enough,* use it late enough. It's the one sure way to play safe.

Why every car manufacturer approves
DENATURED ALCOHOL

Denatured Alcohol is the only anti-freeze approved by every manufacturer of water-cooled cars. Most manufacturers approve it exclusively. There are five very definite reasons for that.

1. Denatured Alcohol is more economical. An entire winter's supply costs considerably less than any other anti-freeze.

2. Denatured Alcohol is more convenient to buy. You don't have to shop for it. Any dealer can supply you.

3. Denatured Alcohol does not seep out as other preparations have a marked tendency to do.

4. Denatured Alcohol will not harm your motor. It does not corrode or eat the metal and rubber of the cooling system as many chemical preparations do.

5. Denatured Alcohol is simpler to use than any other anti-freeze. It does not require the special adjustment and tightening of the motor needed with most other anti-freeze preparations.

Let your dealer put Denatured Alcohol in your radiator today (he knows the correct amount), and get from him an additional supply to keep in your garage for emergency use.

Mrs. MacFarland, Expelled From D. A. R. After Protests On Black List, Hits Order

Charges Officers Are Tools of Militarists and Against Enlightened Opinion of Times.

New York, November 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary P. MacFarland, of Hanover, N. J., who opposed the so-called blacklisting of prominent liberals by the Daughters of the American Revolution, announced today that she had received notice of her expulsion from membership in the national society of that organization.

Mrs. MacFarland is New Jersey state president of the American Association of University Women and an officer in the League of Women Voters. She was charged by the Daughters with "conducting herself in a way calculated to disturb the harmony and injure the good name of the national society, Daughters of the American Revolution" and was informed that the national board of management, at its meeting on October 31, had voted to expel her.

The society contended, according to the announcement made in Mrs. MacFarland's behalf, that she wrote and circulated letters, pamphlets and other material to various chapters and to a number of individuals in which she charged the president-general and other officers with violating the constitution of the United States by endeavoring to suppress free speech, by blacklisting prominent citizens and by otherwise spreading propaganda "degenerative to the institution."

Mrs. MacFarland declined a summons to appear before the board, but submitted sworn evidence in support of the charges.

In a statement issued today, Mrs. MacFarland said she declined to make any appeal from the board's decision to expel her, since she was "quite content."

"I have protested against a policy of the national D. A. R. officers which is to the highest degree un-American, unintelligent and unworthy of the descendants of the men and women of 1776."

"They have been the credulous agents of hysterical professional propagandists and of certain army officers who would keep the people under military espionage and control, and who induced these women, in defiance of public opinion, actually to advocate the continued use of poison gas."

"They clearly intimated to me long ago that they would be rid of me and sought to intimidate me. They have now sat solemnly in judgment on the indictment against them and have without any sense of humor voted to absolve themselves. The result is that I am simply added to the blacklist in the company of many of the finest men and women of the nation."

"The action of the society of the D. A. R. has no effect on me and I remain, as I was born, a daughter of the American Revolution. My future service will be given to the blacklisted women's organizations devoted to constructive work."

"I have had the support, not only of the press and of public opinion, but also of multitude of D. A. R. members who themselves are in a difficult position in a highly organized and militaristic machine in which they are liable to ruthless expulsion because allegiance to the society means unquestioning obedience to orders from the top down."

PRISONER SLAYS GUARD IN ABORTIVE ESCAPE

Boston, November 11.—(AP)—A turnkey at the state prison in Charlestown was shot to death and a guard was injured during a desperate fight with a prisoner who attempted to escape from the prison chapel today.

The murdered turnkey, Fred Pflieger, was 41 years old, and had been employed at the prison for 20 years. George R. Connelly, the guard, was cut about the head.

Charles Trippe, the prisoner, emptied his pistol at Pflieger and then attacked Connelly with the empty weapon. He finally was overpowered by other guards and returned to his cell.

Trippe, who is 21 years old and is serving a term of from 15 to 18 years for robbery, after attending an early religious service in the chapel, was given permission to attend a general service. When the prisoners were returning to their cells, a count of the line revealed that Trippe was missing.

A search disclosed that he was hiding in the balcony and as Pflieger and Connelly approached Trippe opened fire. Pflieger was unharmed and fell with a bullet through his heart. After his gun had been emptied Trippe hattered Connelly's head with the butt.

After he was overpowered the prisoner was found to have 42 cartridges on his person. He told guards that he found the pistol and the cartridges under a bench in the hosiery shop where he was employed and that he had kept them hidden in his pillow.

ENGINEER KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK IN TENNESSEE

Memphis, Tenn., November 11.—(AP)—Lynn Sills, engineer, was killed instantly and several persons received minor injuries today when Louisville and Nashville passenger train number 101, inbound from Cincinnati and Louisville, ran through an open switch and crashed into a switch engine in the yards.

Among those who were injured were: Alvin B. Hon, of Winchester, Ky., cuts and bruises.

J. H. Stuart, Bowling Green, Ky., dislocated shoulder.

The engineer and fireman of the switch engine jumped before the crash and were uninjured. The fireman of the incoming train also jumped and avoided injury.

The engine, baggage car and a mail car were wrecked. The train was running one hour and 35 minutes late, according to reports from the Louisville and Nashville office here.

NEGRO PHYSICIAN OF THOMASVILLE INJURED IN CRASH

Thomasville, Ga., November 11.—(Special).—Dr. W. A. Moseley, leading negro physician of this section was seriously, perhaps fatally, injured when his automobile was struck by a passenger train near Quitman last night after he had driven it off the road onto the railroad right of way. He was taken to a hospital in Valdosta where his condition was regarded as critical.

CHARLESTON TO REVIVE EARLY RAILROAD SCENE

Will Hold Ceremony in Memory of First Train To Enter City.

Charleston, S. C., November 11.—(AP)—Railroad scenes of nearly a century ago will be recreated here November 20, when a reproduction of "The Best Friend of Charleston," first American-built locomotive used in regular service, will pull a toy-like train over tracks of the Southern railway.

Exact in every particular, except for safety appliances unknown when the first "Best Friend" was constructed, the reproduction will puff away from the site of the initial run of its predecessor pulling a service car and two reproductions of pioneer passenger coaches with Mayor Thomas P. Stoney, members of the board of aldermen and newspapermen as passengers.

From Charleston, the train will proceed under its own steam to Augusta, Ga., and thence to Columbia, and other states served by the Southern railway system.

The original "Best Friend," designed by C. E. Detmold and built at the West Point foundry, New York, for the South Carolina Canal and Railroad company, now the Charleston division of the Southern railway, and was brought to Charleston on a ship, October 23, 1830.

TWO WOMEN HELD FOR SHOOTING MAN IN GEORGIA TOWN

Alma, Ga., November 11.—(AP)—While doctors feared Ernest Jones would not survive a bullet wound he received near here tonight, two women were being held in jail, each officers said accusing the other of the shooting.

Miss Alie Batten and Mrs. Ben Taylor were arrested by sheriff's officers who found two pistols at the scene of the shooting, a .45 automatic and a .22 Smith and Wesson.

Two other men were in the party besides Jones, and the officers said they learned there had been an argument.

Jones was brought here for medical attention.

ARMY AIRPLANES TO HELP DEDICATE FLORIDA AIRPORT

Washington, November 11.—(AP)—Army airplanes have been authorized by Secretary Davis to participate in the dedication of the municipal airport at Jacksonville, Fla., December 1, 2 and 3.

In instructing the commanding general of the fourth corps area, at Atlanta to send such planes as can be spared, the war department head provided that the army personnel should not be called upon to fly on December 2 which falls on Sunday.

FUNERAL RITES FOR F. B. IRONS HELD IN WAYCROSS

Waycross, Ga., November 11.—Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon here for Frank B. Irons, 74, Waycross man who died in Syracuse, N. Y., Monday night, while on a visit there. Services were held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. A. McDaniel, Jr., with whom he has lived for a number of years.

He is survived by one daughter in Waycross, and a niece, Mrs. R. E. Davis, of Syracuse, with whom he was visiting when he died.

Services were conducted by the Rev. T. J. Ponder, pallbearers were C. S. Hardy, J. W. S. Hardy, George W. Harper, G. D. Ryals, G. H. Usry and A. C. Morgan. Interment was at Oakland cemetery.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST.
The Constitution has always given hearty support to the Community Chest believing as we do that such an organization to provide for groups of charity and welfare agencies is more systematic and less wasteful than the old system of agency engaging in independent soliciting of funds, and of independent and frequently unchecked disbursements.

For the support of the 38 agencies in the Community Chest, not one of which has not a peculiar appeal, the sum of $480,000 must be raised.

The campaign will begin today and we urge every business interest and every citizen, according to ability, to give to the fund. There is no escaping responsibility in so vital a matter of service. The aged, the infirm, the poor, the suffering, dependents unable to provide for themselves, all of those we have with us, and they impress a duty. Then there are health, uplift and character building agencies that do splendid services, and they must depend upon the public for the funds to "carry on."

H. M. Atkinson, chairman of the board of the Georgia Power company, who is giving a great deal of his time to public service, is president of the Chest. That fact assures wise management, economy and fairness.

WELCOME TO ROOSEVELT.
Georgia is proud of Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic governor-elect of New York state. The people of this state have greatly admired this stalwart leader, from the days he was an assistant secretary of the navy.

Subsequently his campaign for vice president in 1920 made him a national figure of outstanding appeal because he was not only a leader of great physical strength and charm, but "a straight shooter," with great ability, courage, and the gift of oratory not exceeded perhaps by any other American living today.

When Mr. Roosevelt was later struck down by infantile paralysis the heart of Georgia went out to him, and it was the late Tom Lawless, editor at the time of the Columbus Enquirer-Sun, who interested him in trying the baths at Warm Springs. Mr. Roosevelt did find immediate relief. He later purchased the property, and he spends several months of each year at his hotel there. Today he is in splendid health, and his return to this, his "other state," after a strenuous and successful campaign for the governorship of New York is a matter for rejoicing among his multitude of Georgia friends.

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR
Atlanta was honored in having as a guest Sunday, Congressman Lamar Jeffers, of Alabama, who was the principal speaker of the Armistice day exercises in this city.

This distinguished young member of the House of Representatives, who is, by the way, one of the youngest men in that body, is a speaker of great force and charm, and is particularly fitted to speak on such a patriotic occasion by reason of his own record for distinguished services during the world war.

He entered the late war as a captain and after being commissioned he was assigned to the 326th infantry, of the 82nd division, which was mobilized at Camp Gordon, Atlanta.

He was wounded at St. Jurin, France, during the great Argonne struggle, and only one month to a day before the Armistice. He was decorated with the American Distinguished Service Cross.

In 1921 Congressman Jeffers was elected to the unexpired term of Congressman Blackmon, who died shortly after his reelection at the elections of 1920. He has been reelected for each succeeding term since.

He is the son of a Confederate veteran, and was elected in 1916 to a court clerkship in Anniston, from which position he resigned in order to enter the services of his country on the battle front.

In the recent campaign Congressman Jeffers stood loyally and militantly by the democratic party.

He is a splendid young southerner and is already a power in congress. A great deal more will be heard from him.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!
The tumult and the shouting of the presidential contest have died. A new president has been named to office.

But there's still with us a candidate, and he's one who seems to be headed for election without a dissenting vote.

He's Santa Claus—seasoned campaigner of countless Christmas seasons, and he's coming to sweep the country and cleanse all hearts of factional strife and political hatred.

His election involves no heated charges of bigotry or unfairness. Under his banner marches the Youth of all lands. His ballot box is the home fireside and never an adult nor a kiddie will say him "nay."

Christmas is just around the corner and the spirit of the sacred day has begun to hover over the nation with the advent of the first frosts of winter.

Let's all unite to make it the best Christmas Atlanta and Georgia, the south and the country have ever known. Let all men be friends together, political differences and all the petty selfishness of life forgotten in the wholesome joy of the Yuletide.

Christmas is more than just an occasion for popping firecrackers and eating turkey. It's a time when Childhood sits on a throne; when all the world should be at peace; when goodness and mercy and charity should reign.

This is a good world. Atlanta is a wonderful city and the south basks in the smile of God twelve months out of the year. We all have reason to rejoice and be thankful and to forget the disappointments of everyday life.

Santa Claus is coming. Let's all be happy!

YOUNG MEN DEMOCRATS.
The national democratic organization in Georgia did a wonderful service.

Under the leadership of John R. Slater, of Douglas, a banker, farmer, and an experienced organizer, the state was organized for democracy as never before.

He was assisted by Alex S. Chamber, who headed the speakers' bureau, by Mrs. Alexander, who headed the women's department, and by many others, including the chairman of the state executive committee, Mr. Mattox.

The Young Men's Democratic League of Georgia, of which that sterling young party leader of Savannah, Sam Cann, was chief, did a great service. So did the Fulton county league, and other county organizations of democrats throughout the state.

As a democratic newspaper, true to the traditions of the party, we congratulate them. Georgia is in the democratic column despite all of the organized influences to make it republican.

But the election is history now. The water is over the wheel. We should think only of economics and not of politics. We have nothing to fear. The country is safe, and Christmas is coming!

Washington, will soon be the Mecca for those who are to tell what they did for the ticket, and many will be satisfied if the powers do something for their ticket—back home—by rail.

The earthquake shock felt in the south November 2 wasn't a circumstance to the shock of November 6.

Although not an English purist we would hasten the day when the announcer would refrain from calling it "Sin-sin-nat-tee."

Why is it that more people laugh at a serious man than at a funny man?

The greatness of the modern college is largely measured by the size of its stadium.

The "pay-as-you-go" policy only applied to the victorious party. The other paid as it went.

A campaign deficit is about as annoying as anything you have to pay for after having used it.

Hope the women of the country will junk their campaign text books and begin studying cook books.

Political prophets oftentimes lose their gains.

Next time we shall build a platform for medicinal purposes only.

The dove of peace should suppress the mocking bird in the south.

Health Talks

RULES FOR THE CONTROL OF DIABETES

Here are some rules given by Dr. Elliott P. Joslin, who is one of the foremost students of diabetes:

1. Any person who has 0.1 per cent or more of sugar in the urine is suspect and should be watched for life.
2. Normal weight or less should be insisted upon in all diabetic, suspect, or relative of a diabetic, but reducing, if undertaken, should be extremely gradual.
3. The nearer the proportions of carbohydrate, protein and fat in the diabetic diet conform to those of a normal maintenance diet the better for the patient, provided the urine be kept sugar free and the blood sugar low.
4. A carbohydrate tolerance, unutilized, retrogrades. (This means that a diabetic patient who does not receive quite all the starches and sugars his crippled metabolism can use is likely to lose still more of the capacity to utilize such food.)
5. When the diet includes too much fat and too little carbohydrate, (corn, butter or loss of consciousness) is likely to occur.
6. Emaciation prevents diabetes, say in a family where there is a tendency, and is the foundation stone of modern treatment. Yet, is, wisely, to avoid hunger, for hunger tempts patients to break treatment, indulge in some excess and in consequence die of coma.
7. Emaciation is not wise, merely to bring the blood sugar down to the normal maximum.
8. Diabetes is not fatal of itself; death occurs from other intercurrent diseases, complication or accidents.
9. Coma is an accident, usually inauspicious, more commonly prevented in 99 cases out of 100.
10. A diabetic patient when ill from any cause should (1) go to bed, (2) keep warm, (3) take plenty of hot water, tea, broth, orange juice, or oatmeal water gruel every hour, (4) empty bowel with an enema, (5) call a doctor.
11. Gangrene can usually be avoided by treatment with posture, by washing the feet daily, and by reporting promptly to the physician any trifling lesion or bluish area of the foot or legs.
12. Any patient with a tolerance of less than 100 grams of carbohydrate should regularly test his own urine for sugar, keep the urine sugar free, and employ a doctor, weighing out his rations accurately until he can keep sugar free without these checks. (As I have mentioned before in this column Dr. Joslin's "Book for Us Diabetics," published by E. B. Miles, South Lancaster, Mass., is a handy guide for such patients to follow.)
13. Firm adherence to a diet adjusted to the patient's tolerance and needs is essential to the successful use of insulin. Insulin simply enables the patient to take the benefits from intelligent regulation of his diet, exercise and other important factors.

war were bestowed by the Rebecca Felton chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, on six veterans of the war: George Sloan, of Wilmington, N. C.; Benjamin H. Houston, of Benson, B. C.; Ezell Butler, of Bolton, Ga.; William Ivan Deck, of Jackson, Miss.; and John D. Sicken and J. L. Howell, of Atlanta.

Introducing the principal speaker, Homer Watkins, past state commander of the American Legion, told the history of Major Jeffers' part in the great struggle. A commissioned captain in the first officers' training school held in Atlanta, Mr. Jeffers led a company of French troops.

Through death of the battalion commander on the front line trenches, he was appointed acting major and ordered to cross a river and capture a town held by the Germans. Although an impossible task, Mr. Watkins said, Major Jeffers advanced with his men and attempted to bridge the river with a battery of machine guns, while a battery of machine guns on the opposite bank moved down the entire communication line, and the French troops were riddled with machine gun bullets.

A Candle Seems Wonderful to the Man Who Doesn't Know Better Light Can Be Made
By Robert Quillen

Generalities never are true—not even this one. You say man makes his own opportunities, and that is true. You say opportunity makes the man, and that is true. You say a man can climb to any height and achieve any ambition if he will pay the price—if he will study and labor and sacrifice all things to his purpose—and that is true.

Or you say each man is the victim of chance, and that no matter how hard he tries or how great his abilities, his success will depend upon good fortune, and that, also, is true.

And yet none of these is true if applied to the whole mass of humanity, for each man's destiny depends in large measure upon his limitations, and no rule can apply to a group of men unless all in the group are equal.

One man makes his own opportunities; another is made by chance. One man succeeds by reason of industry, and another, equally industrious, fails for reasons of stupidity.

But if the rules must be altered to fit each man's capabilities, so must the definition of success.

When an engine develops the horsepower it was constructed to produce, it is a success. When a man achieves the measure of success indicated by his natural abilities, he is a successful man.

A barnyard hen is not a failure because she cannot soar like the eagle. Her business is to lay eggs. If she achieves a sufficient number of eggs, she is a success and deserves no less applause than the eagle.

What is more she feels no urge to fly.

And that explains the contentment of obscure and humble men. The European peasant who plows well and earns his bread is a success. Nature equipped him for nothing higher. And he is conscious of being a success, for Nature commonly equips her creatures with ambitions to fit their capacities.

It is not the peasant who is capable of an unhappy yearning for greatness, he would be capable of greatness. What a man can't envision, he can't long for.

The miserable failures are few. They are people with a capacity for success—able to envision and long for great things—and yet thwarted by chance.

The many are successful, for they achieve their rated horsepower. They are as high as Nature designed them to fly, and live content because they are not equipped to conquer the ether.

You think the lowly are bitter. You know you would be bitter in their place. But they are like you. You do not long to be a king, for Nature gave you no capacity for kingship.

POT OF HOT TAR FALLS FROM ROOF KILLING WOMAN
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and the Chicago Tribune.)

Bayonne, N. J., November 11.—Mrs. Elizabeth Burns, 72, died today of injuries received when a pot of blazing tar fell on her from the roof of her home in Bayonne. Her son, Harry, while tarring the roof, knocked the tar pot off when it caught fire, thinking to save the house from damage.

CARNES SHORTAGE MET BY BAPTISTS

Atlanta contributed $3,000 to the morning service and another collection was made Sunday night. At Macon the First Baptist church collected $800 and the morning service was expected to swell the total to more than $1,000.

The Vineville church at Macon added $55.28 to a previous contribution of $2,000, while the Baptist Tabernacle at Macon is raising funds to retire a building debt and did not serve the day.

The Savannah churches also contributed, but the amount was not made known.

Carnes was made the subject of a sermon by the Rev. Calvin B. Waller, Arkansas member of the home mission executive board, who spoke on "The Vision of Faith."

The former treasurer of the home mission board has added to his Baptist burdens by embezzling $953,000, the Rev. Mr. Waller said, "thus impairing our Baptist credit and honor. This one board is now in debt to two and one half million dollars. The banks trusted not Carnes, but southern Baptists and our credit must be redeemed. There was a traitor in the following of Jesus. The early church had its traitors, and this church had its Benedict Arnold, but we did not desert our country and our religion because of one traitor."

PARIS IS SILENT AS MARK OF TRIBUTE

Paris, November 11.—(AP)—Thousands today stood bareheaded and silent in the rain for a full minute at 11 a. m. in honor of the armistice. In Paris, as in all cities of France, in remembrance of those who fell in the war which ended ten years ago, a solemn and eternal flame, burning beside the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, was kindled while President Doumergue and Premier Poincaré reviewed the marching soldiers and sailors, Marshal Foch and Marshal Petain with Generals Debeney, Weygand, Dubail, Nessel and others were among the war leaders present.

In the American churches in Paris the anniversary was commemorated by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and other services. Representatives of the United States army, navy, the American Legion and the legion auxiliary, as well as Americans who served with the French forces during the war, attended services in the American cathedral and later marched down the Champs Elysees, reviewing the salute of the French crowds.

Similar ceremonies were held in all French cities, including Strasbourg, Marseilles, Brest, Toulouse and Bordeaux.

Stanford University, Calif., November 11.—(AP)—The world war dead was paid to day by Herbert Hoover, president-elect, at the stood in silence.

For two minutes with the congregation in Stanford memorial chapel at the hour when peace came to the world just ten years ago.

Upon arriving at his home in San Juan Hill, a mile away, Mr. Hoover with Mrs. Hoover and Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, went for a brief walk before dinner. They spent the remainder of the day quietly at home, the president-elect having put away plans for his South American trip until tomorrow.

Mrs. Hoover's secretary, George Akerson, conferred with officials at the Mare Island navy yard at San Francisco concerning plans for the departure on the battleship Maryland within the next week or ten days. He also inspected the Pacific battle fleet flagship which arrived today in San Francisco bay and which is to go into drydock at Hunters Point for some overhauling in preparation for the voyage to Valparaiso.

KELOGG SEES VICTORY FOR ARBITRATION

New York, November 11.—(United News)—Realization of the "long cherished ideal of peace on earth and good will to men" was the theme of the Kellogg-Briand anti-war treaty, Secretary of State Kellogg told the World Alliance for International Friendship here today.

He expressed confidence that the peoples of the nations would support the pact.

"I cannot believe that such a declaration, entered into, not in the frenzy of public excitement but in the cool deliberation of peoples, can fail to be a world-wide moral effect," he said.

"Arbitration and conciliation are appealing more and more to the imagination of the peoples of all nations. I deem this movement of surprising

Radio Fans Go Fishing
WAVE LENGTH CHANGE BRINGS CONFUSION As New Channels Are Used

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Radio fans of the southland were fishing tonight with varying degrees of luck, and not a little impatience, when the "favorites" with their concert was not found very readily.

With old "favorites" again on the log, book, fishing parties were general, and the atmosphere of conditions were favorable, reception was reported as much improved, with long distance hunting good.

Stations and "squawks" rewarded most fans at Columbia, S. C., but in North Carolina, WBT at Charlotte was reported clearer, while at Raleigh, station operators said atmospheric conditions in that vicinity might cause interference.

From Nashville came the wait that the "air" is full of haws and reaps, but earlier fans up and down the southland had reported no radical changes.

Down Miami way static cut capers and fans were prevented from hearing a fair test, although some said the "air" is full of stations.

A "general mixup" occurred at Birmingham, where fans reported themselves "lost" and favorites of yesterday no longer to be found on 45 or 48 or whatever the case might be, when the "favorites" were found that was "strong" was weak and the "weaker" stations were stronger.

From favorable reports early in the evening, less cheerful tunes were heard when the fishing grew tiresome and the concert that mother wanted to hear was not to be heard, daughter's dancing program came clear through the loud speaker.

One fan here put it, "the boy with the crystal set has it on us all. He can't get lost."

New York, November 11.—(AP)—The dyed-in-the-wool radio fan, whose chief nightly pastime is to search the ether for a tinkle of music from some station he has never heard of, was in his merriest mood tonight, for before him, as on the day he got his first radio set, lay the whole vast expanse of unknown ether, to be explored by a half revolution of the radio dial.

Thousands of these indoor fishing excursions were under way in the metropolitan district, thanks to the federal radio commission which recommended that the action is great stuff," said the official of one station. "But it works hardships on many of the stations. Some of us who especially desire to hear housewives during the day find we must broadcast at night when friend husband wants to hear dance music instead of the popular songs of the day."

"And some of us will find it impossible to broadcast night club music during the day time. There aren't many night clubs in that, but there are enough to be funny, and, in some cases, disastrous."

Accused with her daughter of conspiracy to obstruct justice as a result of the kidnapping episode in which Mrs. McPherson disappeared at Ocean Beach, Calif., and reappeared in Douglas, Ariz., Mrs. Kennedy is said to have declared that while she never made check out directly to the district attorney's office, she spent more than $100,000 in an effort to vindicate the evangelist.

Hundreds and sometimes thousands of dollars in cash were paid out, Mrs. Kennedy is said to have revealed, for most of which she said she received no receipts. Information was given to the grand jury by witnesses.

The mystery chest now being sought by grand jury detectives is asserted to belong to the evangelist and there is reported to be contained the evidence believed to be of prime importance in the case against District Attorney Keyes comes up Tuesday.

was to call as a government witness Falls' son-in-law, Everhart, through whose hands the Sinclair money passed from Sinclair to Falls' bank account.

The trouble with calling Everhart was that it was known he would testify that this was a legitimate business transaction and that he had no interest in the New Mexico ranch. Under the rules of evidence the government cannot impeach its own witness. This statement, if it chose to put Everhart on the stand, unless substantially the same claim should be made by some witness offered by the defense.

The government felt safe in using Everhart as a witness because it knew that Falls in a long deposition had made the defense counsel had taken at a New Mexico ranch had made the same claim as Everhart regarding the legitimate character of the transaction. It was assumed that the Sinclair lawyers would follow out their declared intention of using the Fall deposition as the cornerstone of their defense. The government attorneys, Pomeroy and Roberts, believed themselves prepared to disprove Falls' claim that it was a legitimate business transaction by introducing Falls' own letters and by a number of witnesses from New Mexico.

ATTOEY'S SHIFT STRATEGY

When the case came to trial, Sinclair's chief attorney, Wendell Schiff, altered his strategy, withheld the Fall deposition and had the court impound it and threaten with contempt perjury charges against anyone who secured a copy for publication. This left the government in the position of having offered through its witness Everhart an explanation of the legitimate character of the transaction and of being unable under the rules of evidence to contradict this statement of its own witness.

Roberts and Pomeroy in their speeches to the jury ridiculed the claim that business men would carry on a business deal involving nearly a quarter of a million dollars by the methods described by Everhart of transferring Liberty bonds in the dead of stocked the fishing pool through a re-allocation of the wave lengths among the broadcasting stations of the country.

Nothing regarding what luck the fishermen were having could be learned from representatives of the National Broadcasting company tonight, although the company had no information on the reaction of the radio public to the new allocations.

Early reports were that stations in the congested metropolitan district were separated more easily and some local stations were said to have been received much louder than heretofore.

Signals and squawks of the regenerative "blooper" marred reception in some instances, but the squawks and squawks are expected to become fewer as the "blooper" fan gradually builds up a new log to replace the one which was worthless last night.

CHICAGOANS SEEK CHICAGO AND CATCH TEXAS.

Chicago, November 11.—(AP)—Chicago's 23 radio stations were inundated with messages tonight. The messages, station managers said, came by telephone and telegraph from listeners who wanted to know why their pet stations were not "coming in."

There were those who wanted WJLB, "the voice of the street," and got WFL, "the voice of Labor." There were those who sought their favorite orchestra at dial 333 and got their neighbor's favorite at the same point. And there were those who got Texas when they tried for the station just around the corner.

Of the 23 stations, 19 went on new wave lengths and new powers at 3 a. m. by order of the federal radio commission, which had allocated their new channels.

"For the listeners, the action is great stuff," said the official of one station. "But it works hardships on many of the stations. Some of us who especially desire to hear housewives during the day find we must broadcast at night when friend husband wants to hear dance music instead of the popular songs of the day."

STUDENT IS SHOT IN AN ARGUMENT ABOUT BALL GAME

Chicago, November 11.—(AP)—John C. Acher, 21, football star and senior at Northwestern university, was shot and probably fatally wounded today in an argument that climaxed a celebration of football victories.

Acher, who was shot in the chest, was attacked by gunmen after the fenders of their automobiles scraped at a street intersection. One bullet entered his chest and a second paralyzed him if he lives, physicians said. Another bullet entered his leg.

The shooting occurred at 10, a student of the Missouri Military academy, who was his brother during the shooting. He had come to see his school play against the Morgan Park Military academy.

After the game, Chester told police, the two boys borrowed an automobile and started to celebrate their victories. On Michigan avenue they scraped fenders with another car and the occupants gave chase, he said.

One of the gunmen stood on the running board of his car and fired at the boys when they went by, Chester said. Police squads gave chase to the assailants, but failed to catch them.

The boys' father is Dr. A. E. Acher, of Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Petersburg, Va., November 11.—(AP)—One man was killed and 18 others injured today seriously, when overcame by ammonia fumes today while at work in the Atmospheric Nitrogen company's plant at Hopewell.

The dead was W. B. Mislis, 33, a supervisor. The injured were believed to be out of immediate danger, though some were taken to the Hopewell hospital to minimize the danger of pneumonia.

The men were overcome when a safety hatch on one of the ammonia tanks burst flooding one of the buildings with fumes. Mislis was believed to have been instantly killed.

The cause of the accident was deemed unnecessary.

Jeanne Mignolet, soprano, will be among the soloists in the program by Romy and the French Opera company in Montreal, and later appeared in "Le Prophete" with Charles Marshall of the Chicago Civic opera.

Other vocal and instrumental soloists, the Romy Symphony orchestra and the mixed chorus also will be heard in this program.

Bill Roper, Princeton's famous football coach, is the speaker for the second A. C. Gilbert sports talk for boys to be broadcast at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon through WSB and the associated stations of the NBC system.

Mr. Roper's talk, a few days preceding the Yale-Princeton game, should prove interesting, not only to the boys but to older folks as well. Alfred C. Gilbert will act as master of ceremonies and the Erector Builders will play and sing the football songs of Princeton.

Frigitula will be the host of the General Motors Family party to be heard through WSB and the associated stations of the N. B. C. system headed by WEAP at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

A program featuring symphonic arrangements of popular numbers, led by a concert orchestra under the direction of Frank Black, a male quartet and Lewis James, tenor, will be presented at 8:30.

A special transcription for the strings by Harry Horlick of "Caprice de la Balantine" will be broadcast on the air for the first time during the A. and P. Gypsies' program over WEAP and the N. B. C. system at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The period opens with the overture to "Oberon" written by Carl Maria von Weber. "Oberon" is based on the French romance "Hun de Bordenaux," a quarrel between Oberon, the Elf king and his fairy partner, which cannot be reconciled until Oberon finds two really constant lovers. The music is tumultuous and brilliant and will be played here by the orchestra under the direction of Gypsy King Harry Horlick.

A special arrangement of the tango, "La Campanella," by Canto: Tschakowsky's "Humoresque" and "Chanson Triste" and Mme. Chaminade's "La Lisonjera" (The Flatterer) add further interest to the program.

The difference between Mussolini and the Spanish military dictator, Primo de Rivera, will be explained by James G. McDonald, in his talk entitled "A Spanish Dictator" in the next of his series of lectures on "The World Today," through WEAP and the N. B. C. system at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

Primo de Rivera, the Spanish military dictator, has frequently been compared to Mussolini. As a matter of fact, the difference between these two men and between their programs are much greater than the similarities, according to the observations of Mr. McDonald.

The Spanish dictatorship, though it has maintained itself in power for the past five years, has to its credit few of the constructive achievements which have made fascism so successful in Italy. There seems little reason to believe that Primo de Rivera is more than an interlude in the life of Spain.

Fred Stone's first word to the American public since he was injured in an airplane accident several months ago will be broadcast direct from his room in Lawrence and Memorial hospitals, New London, Conn. through the N. B. C. system at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The program, which will be the first of a series sponsored by the Autonomes of Iowa, will open in the N. B. C. Chicago studios, where music will be presented by the Duo Disc Duo and an orchestra. From there a switch will be made to Dorothy Stone's dressing room in the Globe theater, New York city, where the star of "Three Cheers" will sing two songs from the production in which she is appearing, and broadcast a message of good cheer to her father.

After another period of music from Chicago, N. B. C. listeners will be taken to New London, where Fred Stone will tell how he crashed in the airplane and announce his plans for his return to the stage. The program will close with further musical numbers from the Chicago studios.

Stations associated with the N. B. C. system through which this program will be heard will include WJZ, New York; WRZ, Springfield; WHAM, Rochester; KDKA, Pittsburgh; KYW, WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul, and KOLA, Denver.

Light in title, as well as in character, is the program to be presented by the United Choral Singers in their broadcast over the Columbia system at 7 o'clock tonight.

The following titles expressing light of our type or another are found: "Song of the Flame," "The Moon Has Laid Her Lamp Above," "Moonlight and Mists," "Pale Moon," and "With Till the Sun Shines, Nelly." The light of education is also found in "School Days," while lightness in music is expressed by "Alexander's Ragtime Band," and lightness of thought in the selection "Was It a Dream?"

The United Choral Singers will be heard in a half hour of music over the Columbia system tonight at 7:35 o'clock.

In their program they will offer the following:

Three medleys of popular dance tunes will be one of the outstanding features of the Lowrey Radio hour to be broadcast by stations of the Columbia Broadcasting system at 9 o'clock eastern standard time, Monday night, November 12. In addition, there will be a group of soloists picked from the ranks of the Lowrey Salon orchestra by its leader, Jack Shilkret.

The dance medleys include a group of four popular fox-trots, a group of three tangos, fox-trots, and a group of popular waltzes. Completing the dance theme of the program will be Al Pianissimo's "Just a Dance Program of Long Ago."

The black assassin of grief and remorse, Al Herman, will be the stellar highlight of the Vitaphone Jubilee Hour, which is to be broadcast by the Columbia System at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

The supporting cast will consist of a symphony orchestra, vocal and instrumental soloists drawn from the studio staff of Warner Brothers, producers of Vitaphone films.

Al Herman, who will be the black-face sun around which all the other stars of the Vitaphone hour revolve, was born in Scotland and reared in one of the tenement houses of the lower eastside of New York. In his early years he was a fellow newsboy with Al Smith on the sidewalks of New York. His first real job was a place as an usher in a Bowery burlesque house. He held this position over the protests of his poor, but proud mother, who was filled with the fervent religion of her native land. Young Al finally worked up to head usher, and in that post had an opportunity to talk with the actors and actresses, the tricks of the trade. Association with actors was not enough, for young Al wanted to be one himself, and he got his chance in a small vaudeville act. He has toured the country many times since those days, and Al Herman and his minstrels have been seen in all parts of Europe.

A highly classical program will be broadcast under the title of "The Music Room" over the Columbia System at 9 o'clock tonight.

Taking part in this program are Ivan Ivanoff, baritone; Walter Edelstein, violinist; Helen Oelshagen, contralto; Gregory Besrodny, violinist; Hardesty Johnson, tenor, and the Music Room Quartet, a string chamber music group.

Returning to the air after an absence of several weeks, the Captivators will be heard over the Columbia System at 9:30 o'clock tonight in the kind of a program that has made them justly famous.

The orchestra will open its program with the popular "One Step to Heaven," and is to be heard in "Crossroads," "Blue Bird and W," "Querida," and other popular tunes. As soloists will be heard Janet Hall, soprano, and the much-lauded quartet that has taken part in past Captivators programs. Miss Hall has chosen to sing "Just a Wee-bit for You," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, while the male quartet's contributions are "Ramona" and "Broadway," from the musical show "Manhattan Mary."

Programs in standard time, all time is p. m. unless otherwise indicated. Washington on left of call letters, circles on right.

Roosevelt Will Survey Hopes of Democratic Party for 1932, He Says

Declines To Mention Himself as Choice of Party, But Says Will Canvass Situation.

Warm Springs, Ga., November 11. (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor-elect of New York, today announced that he contemplated a survey of the democratic situation throughout the nation, but added that it has "absolutely nothing to do with my own election or any future election."

During a press conference, when the subject of shorts of "Roosevelt for president in 1932" that greeted the governor-elect as his train passed Georgia towns yesterday, was broached, Mr. Roosevelt declined to discuss it and said, "I want definitely to step on any talk of that kind with both feet. That expression is colloquial, but it is very clear."

Mr. Roosevelt, who arrived here yesterday for a month's rest, said he contemplated a survey similar to one he conducted in 1924.

REFERS TO 1924.
"In 1924, I sent out letters to all delegates to the national convention and to democratic leaders, asking their views of the situation," he said. "The result of their replies was a thorough going understanding of the situation among leaders throughout the country which resulted in cooperation and the presentation of a united front on the part of congressional and senatorial leaders.

"I am convinced that this year, through the various checkups to be made, during the next two months, democratic leaders will present a united front and bring home the fact that this year the democratic national ticket received 40 per cent of the popular vote, as against 29 per cent in 1924, 31 per cent in 1920 and a very substantial gain and at least halfway toward 51 per cent."

"My present correspondence has absolutely nothing to do with my own election or any future election. It is merely carrying out exactly what I have done in past years with regard to the national situation."

SAYS GEORGIA IS STANCH.
Mr. Roosevelt said the 1924 survey brought about the elimination of discussion of individual candidates for the presidential nomination, and that it had as its purpose, the benefit of the party, rather than any particular candidate.

After discussions with Senator William J. Harris, of Georgia; Cecil Neill, state senator-elect, and others, Mr. Roosevelt said he was convinced that Georgia "is just as much in the democratic column today, as it has been for the past 50 years."

"In the course of the next couple of weeks, I expect to see personally or communicate with democratic leaders from other southern states and get an idea of the situation in this area."

Morris Bloch, minority leader of the lower house of the New York assembly, and Bernard Downing, democratic leader of the New York state senate, Mr. Roosevelt said would probably visit him after Thanksgiving, in addition to "someone from Albany to discuss the state budget, and someone from New York to discuss New York city legislation."

Mr. Roosevelt spent today quietly, except for a dip in the swimming pool during which he participated in a game of water football with D. Basil O'Connor, his law partner of New York; James T. Whitehead, of Detroit, a trustee of the Georgia Warm Springs foundation, and newspapermen.

Mr. Roosevelt first came here to take baths several years ago after he had been stricken with infantile paralysis.

Senator Harris, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. J. H. Quinn, of Barnesville; Mr. Quinn, and Misses Mary and Julia Quinn, were visitors at the Roosevelt cottage during the afternoon, driving over from their home.

Senator Harris said he came over on a social visit to the New York governor-elect, but when pressed said he thought "Governor Smith ran a great race, and in his speeches contributed much to the party."

The senator and his party returned to Barnesville tonight, from where the senator will return to Atlanta tomorrow to begin an overland trip to Washington.

Senator Harris said he was anxious to get back to senatorial work after an active campaign in behalf of the democratic national ticket in the state, and also to visit his son and daughter in Washington.

Rising Mercury And Clear Skies Seen for Today

Appreciable rise in temperatures today will mark the relaxation of the cold grip which has tightly folded top coats around the populace for the past few days, while the fair weather will continue, according to weather predictions of the national weather bureau in Washington.

Temperatures Sunday ranged from a low mark of 32, when the mercury touched the freezing point for the first time this season, to a high reading of 54 degrees. No precipitation was registered. Lowest temperature of the fall was registered Sunday in Marion when the thermometer stood at 27 degrees.

REPUBLICAN WINS IN PHILADELPHIA BY 73 BALLOTS

Philadelphia, November 11. (AP)—Completion of the official count of the ballots cast at Tuesday's election in the first congressional district shows a plurality of 73 for Representative James M. Beck, republican, over William L. Rooney, democrat.

Judge Edwin O. Lewis, one of the judges who presided over the election count, explained that while the final figures—45,715 for Beck and 45,642 for Rooney—represented the official computation, they would not be certified until the whole election result had been compiled.

During the official count 31 ballot boxes were opened and the vote for the congressional candidates recounted. There are 214 elections divisions in the district. Mr. Rooney announced tonight that a complete recount for the district would be asked on the basis of alleged errors in the seventh ward. He gave no intimation, however, that he planned to contest the election.

Martin Jensen, Pacific Aviator, Atlanta Visitor

Martin Jensen, internationally known aviator and hero of the ill-starred Dole Pacific air races of 1927, paid Atlanta a hurried call Sunday night, planning to leave for New

MARTIN JENSEN.

York early this morning. The famous flyer dropped down on Candler field shortly after 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the "Aloha," which carried him over the Pacific.

The ace had been participating in air races at Jackson, Miss., and stopped here en route to New York for the purpose of conferring with local aviation leaders on an aerial enterprise in which he is interested.

He was unable to arrange meetings in his brief stay, but announced that he would probably return within the next few weeks.

Questioned on the nature of the proposed enterprise, Jensen was reluctant to discuss the matter and explained that he would make an announcement after he had conferred with chamber of commerce officials and other Atlantans.

A veteran flyer, Jensen sprang into prominence in the race from San Francisco to Honolulu, sponsored in August, 1927, by James D. Dole, Hawaiian pineapple king. His was one of the two entrants to safely complete the flight and landed at Honolulu about two hours after Art Goebel, the winner. Second place brought him a prize of $10,000 while $25,000 went to Goebel.

The Dole races are remembered for the disasters which attended the efforts of several aviators to win the prizes. Miss Doran, "the flying school ma'am" from Flint, Mich., and her pilot, Augie Pedler, were lost. Jack Frost met a like fate and Captain William Erwin, going to the aid of the distressed flyers, was presumably killed in a tail-spin into the ocean. Altogether the death list ran to seven persons, including pilots, navigators and passengers.

The ship in which Jensen flew to Honolulu is a Travelair monoplane similar, but somewhat larger than, those seen around Candler field. It is powered by a Wright Whirlwind motor.

Beautifying with Soap and Water

How a true complexion soap of Nature's beauty oils brings natural charm to your skin

WASHING the face at least once daily in this way is concededly the most important beauty rule of the day.

But only a soap of Nature's beauty oils—those of olive and palm—will cleanse the skin thoroughly and gently at the same time. Such a soap as Palmolive.

Scrubbing the face is too harsh for delicate skin fabric. Use Nature's way—your two hands, and gently massage the creamy Palmolive lather thoroughly into your skin.

Thus pores release their daily accumulation of grime and cosmetics. Thus skin is kept smooth and velvety—girlhood's charm retained.

Then rinse the face—first with warm, then with colder water. And dry by gently patting the skin with a soft towel. Last of all, a dab of cold cream to guard against dryness. That's Nature's rule. It's simple, but a week will prove its value to your skin.

Be sure you get Palmolive—that's important. Everywhere—10c a cake. Colgate-Palmolive Peet Co., Chicago, Ill.

THE YOUNG PRETENDERS

By Alice Grant Rosman

SYNOPSIS.

While lying helpless in bed after a motor accident, Hugo Molyns, a young man of fortune, is visited by his father, with whom he quarreled just before the crash. The father decides that he must be dead and that his mother and the servants are keeping it from him. His aunt, Lady Eleanor Wise, a great gossip, comes to call and tells Hugo that his friend, Paul Molyns, is in prison for stealing and that he has married some girl of whom his family disapproved and that Hugo Molyns had expected to marry Paul and is heartbroken over the affair. Hugo is distressed by the story and asks his mother to have Bunny Molyns come to see him.

Well, the long and short of it was they found the pocketbook on Paul."

"God," said Hugo. "I'll bet he never took it."

"Of course, but then we know him," nodded Bunny wisely. "I have a theory about it myself. I think the man, or perhaps all three planted the pocketbook on Paul, not really intending to have a public row in the place, but to do it all nice and privately and then blackmail him ever afterwards, knowing that he had a rich father. Sounds all right, doesn't it? Just like the films, but it didn't work out like that, and I don't suppose you could prove it. Anyway that wasn't the attitude the Molyns took. They assumed he had been led away by his wicked wife," added Bunny with fine scorn. "First thing I knew was a line in the paper saying Paul had been remanded on a charge of theft, so of course I dashed home from Nice at once straight to the Molyns, and there I heard a wild tale. Paul lured into the clutches of a vampire and sent galloping down hill. As I said to Molly, it seemed pretty quick work, but she wouldn't listen. She was full of the slight to me and I found afterwards she had been telling every one. Paul, according to her, was an innocent angel wrapped up in me, and this beautiful woman had seized him, married him and ruined him in my presence. Nice for me! As for Paul, he was never an Angel," finished Bunny, indignantly.

"I never thought him one," said Hugo to whom the idea of Paul as an angel was simply revolting. "People are such liars, you wouldn't believe."

"They're such dam' fools," cried Bunny. "I soon saw I should get no sense or information from Molly, so I thought of you. I was just going to telegraph to you at Oxford when I met Roland and he began braying his condolences. You can guess I nearly brained him on the spot, but in the nick of time he told me of your accident, and I seized a passing taxi, left Howland gaping and came here. But you poor old Hugo weren't conscious, or when you were, you were fighting everybody in sight, they said."

"My? Was I really?" inquired Hugo much astonished.

"Yes, didn't you know? Oh, I say, I've been told not to upset you," exclaimed Bunny in alarm. "Do tell me if I am upsetting you, Hugo. Hello, here's tea. Interval for tea, eh, Leader?"

"What's going to win the grand national, Leader?" said Bunny.

"Now that's a race, Miss, I wouldn't ever have a flutter on," said Leader. "It's no more nor less than a gamble, the grand national isn't."

"That's right, Leader, never gamble," as the fish stock broker said, bursting into tears when he found he'd made a million. I knew you'd never dream of gambling," said Bunny merrily.

Leader permitted himself a fatherly smile, as he handed Hugo his tea, poked the fire into a blaze and departed.

"Nice old thing, isn't he?" said Bunny. "Friend of yours, too, Leader, and I have grown quite chummy over the telephone lately."

"Have you been telephoning?" asked Hugo in surprise. "About me?"

"Jolly decent of you." "Well, what do you take me for? Do you mean to say they didn't tell you?"

"They never tell me anything," declared the invalid in an exasperated voice. Bunny telephoning and they'd kept it up their sleeve and never said a word! All at once it became the most important thing in the world that Bunny had been telephoning to ask for him. "I do think it's the limit," said Hugo.

"Oh, well, after all if they told you everybody who asked for you would need a fleet of secretaries to write them down," said Bunny, "and I'm keeping you beautifully quiet aren't I?"

"My word! But go ahead about Paul, if you don't mind awfully, Bunny."

"Right, where was I now?" (Copyright, 1928, for The Constitution.) (Continued Tomorrow.)

There is hardly a need or a want that cannot be filled in Atlanta's stores and factories.

Metal Weather Strips Pay Their Cost in Fuel Savings

Home-owners of Atlanta and vicinity cannot control the price of coal, says R. M. Callaway, of 1177 West Peachtree street, N. E., but they can help control the quantity that they must buy every year by stopping heat losses at their source.

"Here is our remedy," continued Mr. Callaway. "We go straight to the source of heat waste and stop the loss by making the building truly weather tight, by putting Monarch Five Star feature metal weather strips in the houses."

"As these Monarch metal weather strips are self-adjusting to weather conditions, they keep out freezing air in winter, and rain, dust and soot all year around. So they not only save about 25 per cent in fuel bills

New Secretarial Service For Manufacturers' Agents

Manufacturers' representatives in Atlanta, and salesmen who travel Atlanta territory will be glad to know that a professional secretarial service which combines not only desk space, but a private desk, personal telephone listing, mail address and secretary, is now available to them at a moderate price.

Miss Susie C. Wailes, prominent Atlanta business woman, has taken a suite of offices on the second floor of the Glen building, where she supplies to traveling men a secretarial service of which they have long stood in need.

Many manufacturing and jobbing concerns have representatives located in Atlanta who travel the southeastern territory during the week, returning to the city for the weekend to handle correspondence which has accumulated during their absence. It is to these men this new secretarial service will appeal.

Miss Wailes supplies to each of her clients who desires it a private desk. Under her telephone number, WALnut 5301, clients may have a telephone listing in their own name. She will also receive and forward mail, and handle all correspondence entrusted to her with accuracy and dispatch.

In addition to these services to her business clients, Miss Wailes offers a unique service to society leaders taxed with the arduous duties of a high-class professional secretarial service of this complete character than she.

Miss Wailes is in her office daily from 8:30 to 5 o'clock except on Saturdays and Sundays, and may be reached by telephoning WALnut 5301.

Miss Wailes feels she is meeting a need in the city's rapidly-growing commercial life, and no one in the city is more capable of rendering a high-class professional secretarial service of this complete character than she.

NEW INDUSTRY LOCATED NEAR GEORGIA TECH

The Atlanta Rubber Co., Inc., is now in production of a new accessory, not only for automobiles, but for many general uses. This is the "Sitzy" rubber air cushion.

This air cushion is made to fit any automobile seat and is blown up with air through a valve which works so easily that a child can operate it.

It makes a soft air cushion for seating purposes. The cushion can be deflated in an instant and folded and put into one's pocket. It can be used as an air cushion seat for the football game or picnic party; in office chair or on any place where one wishes to sit comfortably. The firm is making stenographers' and office chairs model pneumatic back-rests.

The Atlanta Rubber Co., Inc., in addition to the "Sitzy" air cushions, which are made in several sizes, will also manufacture the "Gymnasium Ball," a large rubber ball 10 and 12 inches in diameter. These balls will be in bright colors and have a wonderful resiliency. They can be used as wall or bench balls. The factory is now in production and is getting a nice business on the "Sitzy" air cushions and balls.

H. McCord Shaver and Joseph Hadfield are both Atlanta men and well-known throughout the south. Mr. Hadfield being an expert in the rubber production line. The factory is located at 414 Techwood drive and is equipped with the latest machinery for production of sport balls and air cushions. Samples of the "Sitzy" air cushions are being mailed to jobbers over the country and orders are coming in that insure a big success for the firm. Mr. Shaver is a graduate of Emory college and is well-known throughout the south and in Cuba.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

RUSTY HAS TO SWIM.

BY THOMAS W. BURGESS.

Everything you have to do, you can; the truth of bird and beast and man.

For several days after his adventures of getting food enough, don't want to drown."

Just then Rusty's nose bumped something. It was a stick of wood. It wasn't very big, but it was big enough to give Rusty a chance to rest a little and still keep afloat. How thankful Rusty was! He got his head with Reddy Fox and Redtail the hawk, as he was crossing the Green Meadows, there were few adventures Rusty the Fox Squirrel. He continued his journey in quest of a place where nuts were more plentiful. Of course, he had some small adventures, but they didn't amount to a great deal.

enemies he could laugh at. At each day saw Rusty further from the Green Meadows and the Green Meadows at Farmer Brown's. When he had an old stone wall to climb along. Sometimes he had to go to the fields. Sometimes he had to climb through pieces of woodland, he always stopped to hunt for food. But at last Rusty came to a place where he wanted to go. There was water as far as he could see. When he looked the opposite way, there was a hill. He would see. But when he looked right across, he could see a great big lake. He was very inviting. He almost knew where he would find over there," said Rusty to himself as he sat looking across. "There are a lot of people here. I wonder if I am I going to get there? I can't run, for I would take too long. And, I do so want to get over there."

He no longer Rusty sat looking across the lake—for that is what it was. He was now Rusty sat looking across the lake. He was now Rusty sat looking across the lake. He was now Rusty sat looking across the lake.

side. At this particular point the water was not very wide. That is, if I would not have thought it was a good idea to go in there, the Squirrel it looked very wide in. So Rusty hesitated and hesitated. He would not put one paw in there. He would not put the other. He would shake them and sit with the two little paws buried in the fur of his breast and gaze wildly across to the other side. "You can't count on that," I thought, "or perhaps it was his longing name his fear. Anyway, he won't go in. He didn't go in. He went into the water and started to swim. He was a Fox Squirrel could swim? Of course he can. Happy Jack the Squirrel can swim. Chatterbox the Squirrel can swim. Rusty the Squirrel, animals can swim when they want to. POWDER SPRINGS FUNERAL MONDAY FOR C. N. LANDERS

Funeral services for Charles Newman Landers, 36, of 801 Virginia avenue, who was fatally injured late Saturday afternoon in a fall down an elevator shaft, will be conducted at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the Virginia Avenue Baptist church, with the Rev. J. M. Long officiating. Burial will be at Powder Springs, with Atwell & Lowndes in charge.

Mr. Landers plunged down the elevator shaft from the second floor of the building. He was rushed to Grady hospital, but died within the hour.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Landers leaves a son, Charles Landers, Jr.; a daughter, Louise Landers; his father, J. A. Landers, of Powder Springs, Ga.; two sisters, Mrs. C. L. Scott and Miss Ethel Landers; and five brothers, G. M. and W. R. Landers, of Powder Springs, and C. L. M. A. and J. O. Landers, of Atlanta.

BATCHELOR RITES AT WEST VIEW CEMETERY TODAY

Funeral services for Van Astor Batchelor, one-time Atlanta attorney and clubman, will be held at West View cemetery at about 10 o'clock this morning, shortly after the body arrives from Nashville, N. C., where Mr. Batchelor died Saturday night.

The Rev. J. A. McMurray will be in charge of the services. Van Astor, Judge Shepard Bryan, Selden Jones, Harrison Bleckley, Macon Martin, Lowry Arnold, Walter Maude and N. W. Earnest will act as pallbearers.

Mr. Batchelor was prominent in legal circles here for more than 20 years and had retired from practice about a year ago because of ill health. He went to Nashville shortly after his retirement to make his home with his sister, Mrs. Samuel Austin, in his native city.

He was prominent in local fraternal and club activities as well as in his profession. He married Miss Nell Earnest, daughter of Dr. John G. Earnest. Mrs. Batchelor died several years ago.

SISTERS INJURED IN AUTO CRASH ON AUSTELL ROAD

Mrs. H. L. Burrell, of 694 Tifton street, suffered a fracture of the cheek bone and other injuries Sunday night when her car crashed into a tree on Austell road.

Walter Burrell, of 694 Tifton street, received cuts about the face Sunday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding on the Austell road, near the Chattahoochee river bridge, crashed into another machine driven by an unidentified man.

The Burrells, of 694 Tifton street, were driving the automobile in which the women were riding, stated that the car which hit his sped on after the accident without stopping. The party was en route from Dallas to Atlanta at the time of the mishap.

Mrs. E. T. Shields, of 1474 Athens avenue, received cuts and bruises Sunday night when she was struck down at the intersection of Athens and Dill avenues by an automobile driven by W. S. Withers, of Savannah, who fled to police reports. No case was made.
